

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

When you look at the lists below, you will see the names of 171 individuals, 115 organisations, and the museums, friends and associations of every service branch, regiment and corps in which the former staff and pupils of Perth Academy served in the Great War. In giving thanks, particular mention must be made of the staff in the Family and Local History sections of the A.K. Bell Library in Perth, and the Andrew Carnegie Library in Dunfermline. Their advice, knowledge and enthusiasm has been absolutely invaluable, and without their encouragement it is unlikely that this project would ever have been started. Acknowledgment is also given for their kind permission to reproduce archive material.

There are also two individuals who have made such a major contribution to the project that they deserve a special mention. They are Philippa Campsie and Paul Webster.

Grateful thanks are due to the following organisations, groups and individuals for their expertise, help, advice and generosity; and for the use of the material which is reproduced in the Roll of Honour, the Roll of the Fallen and the Biographies of the Fallen.
